PUBLICIS GROUPE TO ACQUIRE PIXELPARK AG, GERMANY'S LARGEST INDEPENDENT DIGITAL GROUP, VIA A FRIENDLY TAKEOVER BID FOR EUR 1.70 PER SHARE

Paris, January 26, 2012 – Publicis Groupe (EURONEXT PARIS: FR0000130577) announced today its intention to launch a friendly public tender offer for all outstanding shares of Pixelpark AG -- Germany's largest independent digital communications group in terms of billings, according to the Bundesverband Digitale Wirtschaft (Federal Association of the Digital Economy). Pixelpark will retain its name and fold into the Publicis Worldwide network.

Headquartered in Berlin and with offices in Hamburg, Cologne, Bielefeld, Barcelona and Zurich, Pixelpark currently employs some 370 digital professionals, operating the Pixelpark, Elephant Seven and Yellow Tomato agencies. Founded in 1991, Pixelpark merged with Elephant Seven in 2007 to form a full-service interactive group with core expertise ranging from creative to digital brand management, consulting, content management, social media, mobile, end to end eBusiness solutions, performance marketing, display and tracking & analytics. It services leading clients such as Daimler, Deutsche Post, Dräger, Lufthansa and Sparkasse (banking). In the first half of 2011, Pixelpark underwent successful restructuring and achieved revenue of EUR 16.4 million, up 27% from the equivalent period in 2010.

"As of today we have already secured 56.51% of the shares in Pixelpark, and we very much look forward to expanding our shareholding", said Publicis Groupe Chairman & CEO Maurice Lévy. "Publicis Groupe is the leader in digital communication worldwide, and the German market is very important to us. By integrating Pixelpark, which is the leader in digital communication in Germany, we're strengthening our global presence in this sector and ensuring that our clients can benefit from the best possible work, in Germany and internationally."

Publicis Groupe's public tender offer has the full support of the Management Board and the Supervisory Board of Pixelpark AG. "The combination of Pixelpark with Publicis Groupe's global reach and its core strategic priority on digital offers compelling opportunities for us to grow further in Germany", commented CEO Horst Wagner. "We strongly feel that it is in the best interests of our group, our clients, our employees and our shareholders. The price offered to the shareholders is fair."

The tender offer will be conducted through Publicis Groupe's German wholly-owned subsidiary MMS Germany Holdings GmbH (MMS), registered in the Commercial Register of the Local Court of Düsseldorf under HRB 50291. MMS will offer the shareholders of Pixelpark (ISIN DE000A1KRMK3) a cash payment of EUR 1.70 as consideration for their no-par value bearer shares. This represents a premium of approximately 28% above the estimated weighted average stock exchange price of Pixelpark shares (EUR 1.33) during the last three months as of January 20, 2012. The offer period is expected to commence mid February 2012.

To date, shareholders of Pixelpark have committed to sell Pixelpark shares to MMS corresponding to 56.51% of the registered share capital and of the voting rights in Pixelpark.

The offer will presumably be conditional, inter alia, on the acquisition by MMS of at least 75% of Pixelpark's current registered share capital. Additionally, MMS' acquisition of a majority of Pixelpark shares must be approved by the German Federal Cartel Office.
